Past Experience:

I have more than 125,000 plus hours of experience of corporate training where I mostly train experienced employees of the IT giants Like IBM, Microsoft, Deloitte, Morgan Stanley, LTI Infotech, Unisys, Shell, Accenture and many more.

In my Trainings I make sure that my participants not only understand things from the conceptual discussion we do during training sessions but I also give high weightage to practical implementation and hands-on practice with real life business case studies. As I believe that a best way to understand any technical thing is actually implementing it with step by step hands-on and that's one of the reason some of my regular client want me to do similar kind of trainings at different locations across the globe with actual implementation of POC – “proof of concept” kind of project with exact same architecture of their project requirement.

In last few years other than my own lovely country INDIA I have also delivered sessions in Dubai, Abu Dhabi, Oman, South Africa and Switzerland and I really enjoy dealing with my participants and helping them clearing their doubts with scenarios related to their specific location, language and Business Domain. And I really believe that travelling across the globe has developed lots of skills in me which are required for my profession.

This can be a not a very impressive point but I would like to add that in my whole 18 years of career in training industry I have consistently followed timings for all my trainings as I reach at client premise / Training venue before time and not even single time I was late. As I know time is the most valuable thing in life.

From starting of my career to today I have grown up with different technologies. As I still remember how I started my training career with Microsoft Biztalk Server 2004 and then with every new client I have achieved milestones like dot net framework, Design patterns, Architectural Designs, MVC, SharePoint server, O365, jQuery, AngularJS, Angular, Dot Net Core framework and Microsoft Azure Cloud and now from last 4 years I am consistently learning and delivering session on AI with Microsoft Azure AI services and Agentic AI solutions.
